WEGROWEEN DESIGN DIRECTION

Harvest to Home.

A high-fidelity homepage prototype for premium household shopping, with a credible restaurant-supply path.

PROTOTYPE CONTRACT

- H1 narrative approved by the Design Decision Leader
- Color Approach #1: C1 Orchard Ink
- Selected typography: T2 Fraunces + DM Sans
- Selected grid: G3 Curated Market
- All media regions intentionally remain empty placeholders

DESKTOP – OPENING SEQUENCE

Freshness is visible before purchase.

The opening screen establishes a harvest-aware promise, shows serviceability early and moves directly into products that can actually be ordered.

CULTIVATION JOURNAL

Know what makes this harvest different.

Specific growing, harvest and handling information replaces broad wellness claims.

Variety, not generic category
Name the mushroom, microgreen or cultivar and explain its sensory difference.

Harvest timing
Show when the batch is expected, ready or resting.

Growing practice
Use verifiable language tied to the actual product record.

Best-use guidance
Storage and kitchen notes reduce uncertainty after delivery.

HOW DELIVERY WORKS

From harvest window to doorstep.

1

Check your pincode
See whether the current harvest can reach you before shopping.

2

Choose what is ready
Availability and delivery timing stay attached to each item.

3

Receive with context
Pack, storage and best-use guidance arrive with the order.

FOR PROFESSIONAL KITCHENS

Reliable specialty produce, with a human supply path.

Availability lists, kitchen pack sizes and recurring requirements for restaurants, cafes and chefs. Household shopping remains the primary site journey.

RESPONSIVE COMPOSITION

The sequence remains intact on narrow screens.

Media moves after the value proposition, navigation collapses to a labelled control and product information stays visible without horizontal scrolling.

Navigation

Use a labelled 44px menu button. Keep basket access visible where available width permits.

Media order

Value proposition and primary action precede the media placeholder, protecting conversion on slower connections.

Commerce density

Product cards become horizontal summaries before stacking into detail pages.

Text expansion

Labels and descriptions tolerate at least 35% expansion without hiding price, unit, availability or action.

Restaurant supply

The supply invitation follows household trust and delivery content rather than competing with the hero.

INTERACTION CALLOUTS

Important states stay explicit.

This static sheet exposes behavior that a single homepage screenshot would otherwise hide. Production implementation still requires keyboard, screen-reader, zoom and touch testing.

KEYBOARD FOCUS

Shop this harvest

A 3px evergreen ring remains visible against the mineral background and does not rely on a color change alone.

AVAILABILITY

Ready now

Status uses words, a marker and supporting copy. The same pattern supports Growing, Harvesting, Limited and Resting.

STOCK RISK

Only two household packs remain

Plain language appears before checkout; inventory risk is not hidden until payment.

SERVICEABILITY SUCCESS

124001 - Delivery available Saturday

The result stays adjacent to the field and remains programmatically announced when implemented.

SERVICEABILITY ERROR

Enter a valid six-digit pincode

Error language explains recovery and is linked to the field. Placeholder text never replaces a label.

REDUCED MOTION

Immediate state change

Translation, parallax and decorative reveals are removed. Focus, validation and availability feedback remain immediate.
